Introductory

IN this edition of our catalog, we have endeavored to improve the arrangement, grouping and indexing for the convenience of our customers and ourselves.

We have attempted to add something of the personality of the company, by reproducing portraits of the officers and managers, many of whom you have known for years, as important factors in a great industry. We want you to know that, tho they do not visit you often, they are active in the business, impressing it with their personality, and carefully watching the interests of their customers.

The American Fork & Hoe Company hopes not to be judged by size alone. Principles, methods and men are more important than size. We aim to grow great, rather than big; to be successful in something more than the proportions of our business. Our success depends upon how well you like us, our product, and our methods.

We have maintained the standards of quality upon which our brands have based their success. Wherever possible, we have improved. We have effected many economies through organization, but none at the expense of quality or service. One of our advantages is the exchange of ideas among men of long experience in the same line, and availing ourselves of the best methods of each. Our facilities are ample, and enable us to give you a certain source of supply.

We may be justified in a little pride in the fact that most of our factories have been in successful operation for over fifty years. Many of our skilled workmen have been with us nearly this length of time. During this period, no less than thirty firms have entered the field, and left it without success. The law of "the survival of the fittest" seems to have prevailed. It takes experience, knowledge of the business, and skilled men to make a lasting success in this line, and we have them.

In conclusion, we hope that for more than business reasons—because it makes life broader and more pleasant—that you will always find in us, as individuals, friends, and as a company, liberality and justice. The common ground on which dealer and manufacturer stand, is in giving the consumer a good article, the one best adapted to his needs, and at a fair price. In this you can depend upon the American Fork & Hoe Company to do its part.

General William Herbert Withington

First President of American Fork & Hoe Company

GENERAL WITHINGTON was born in Dorchester, Massachusetts, February 1st, 1835; died in Jackson, Michigan, June 27th, 1903.

In 1857 he entered the employ of Pinney & Lamson, predecessors of the Withington & Cooley Manufacturing Company, Jackson, Michigan, as bookkeeper. In 1858 he, with other employees, purchased the business and organized the firm of Sprague, Withington & Company — afterwards known as Withington, Cooley & Company, and incorporated as "Withington & Cooley Manufacturing Company" in 1877.

In April, 1861, he, as Captain, led the "Jackson Greys" to the Civil War, and in March of 1865 was brevetted Brigadier General for conspicuous gallantry at the battle of South Mountain, on September 12th, 1862.

At the organization of the American Fork & Hoe Company in 1902, he was elected President, which position he occupied until his death in 1903.

For years General Withington was President of the various associations of Steel Goods manufacturers, and was in constant touch with their members, impressing his personality and methods upon his associates to an extent that, tho we have his presence no longer, his influence continues.

General Withington exemplified the best citizenship. He was a patriot and a manly man; sturdy of character, honest, staunch and upright—a valued counsellor and a loyal friend.

Withington Works

Jackson, Michigan

ESTABLISHED in 1848. Incorporated under the name of Withington & Cooley Mfg. Co. in 1877. General W. H. Withington became identified with the firm in 1858, and directed the business until his death in 1903.

This plant has sufficient capacity to produce one dozen goods per minute. It occupies a floor space of 280,000 square feet, and has excellent railroad facilities. Its output is sold in all parts of Europe, Australia and America, and the "Withington-Jackson" brand has a world-wide reputation.

Mr. Winthrop Withington, a son of General W. H. Withington, is the present Manager.

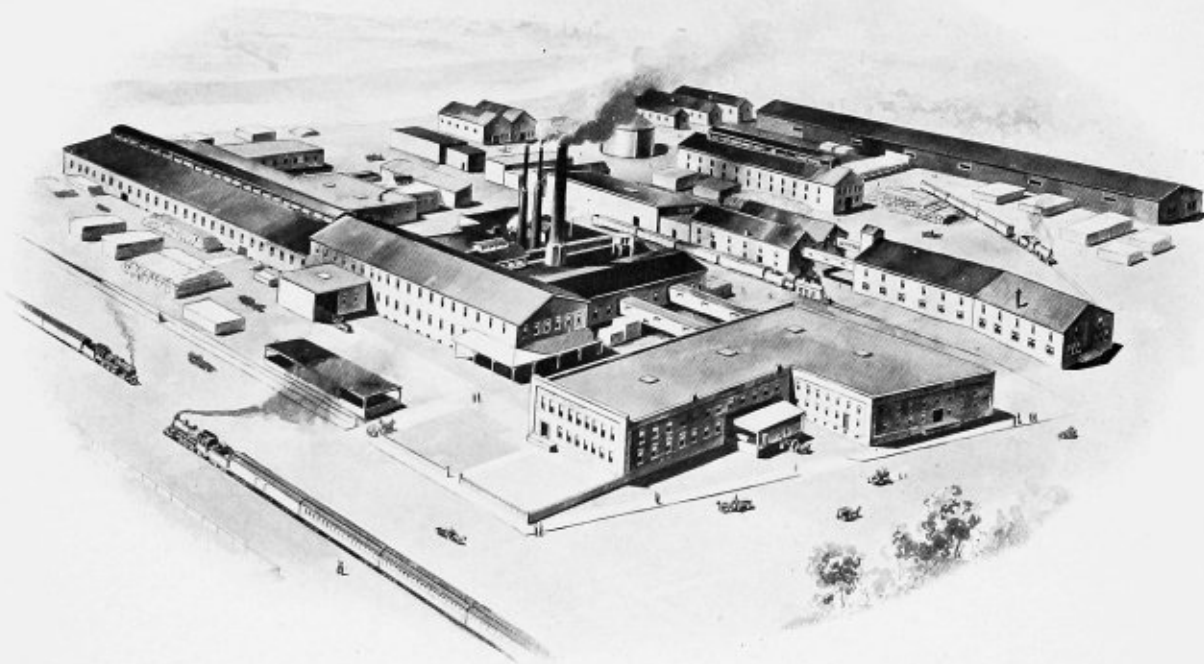

Iowa Farming Tool Company Works

Fort Madison, Iowa

ESTABLISHED in 1854. Incorporated under the name of the Iowa Farming Tool Company in 1874. Mr. F. S. Kretsinger has been identified with this company since its incorporation.

The output of this plant comprises a general line of Steel Goods, Snaths and Cradles. On account of its favorable location, the product of this factory is largely taken by the western and southwestern States, as well as by foreign markets, under the well-known "Iowa" brands.

Mr. T. T. Hitch, connected with the company from boyhood, is its present Manager.

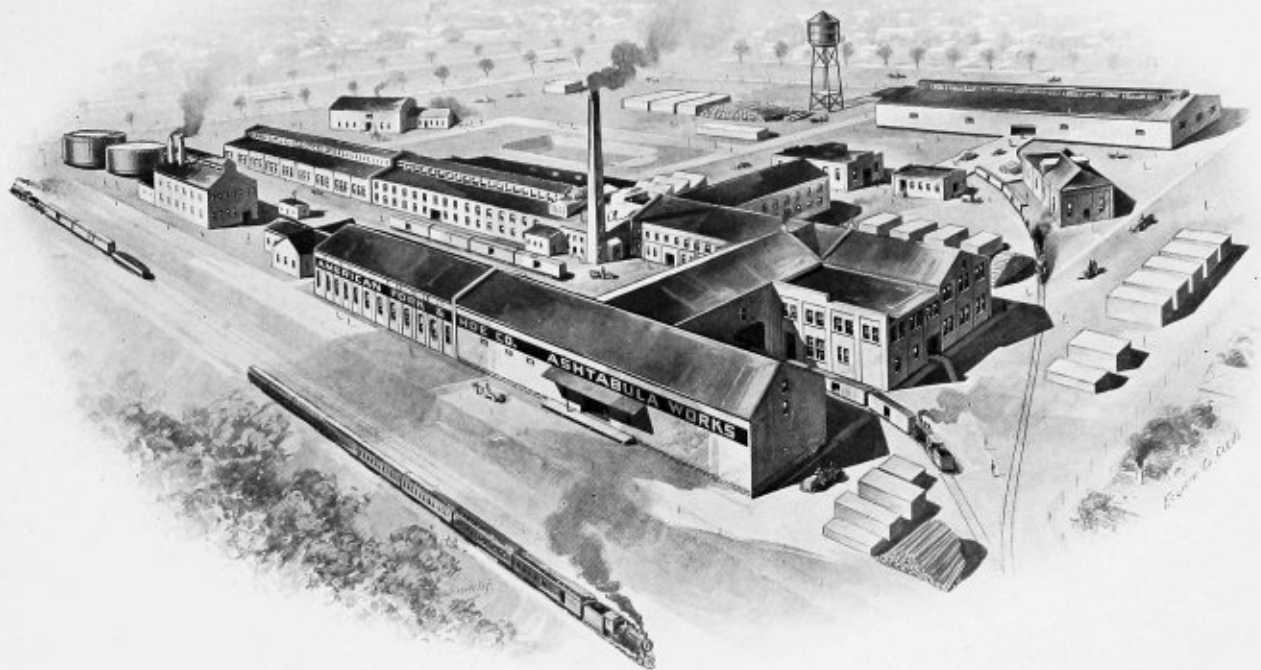

Geneva Works

Geneva, Ohio

ESTABLISHED in 1845. Incorporated under the name of Geneva Tool Company in 1870.

This plant has recently been considerably enlarged, and has now a floor space of 172,000 square feet. A full line of Steel Goods and Snaths is made, and the "Geneva" brand is well known throughout the country.

Mr. T. H. Russell, the present Manager, has been identified with the Steel Goods business over 30 years, having begun with the Withington & Cooley Mfg. Co.

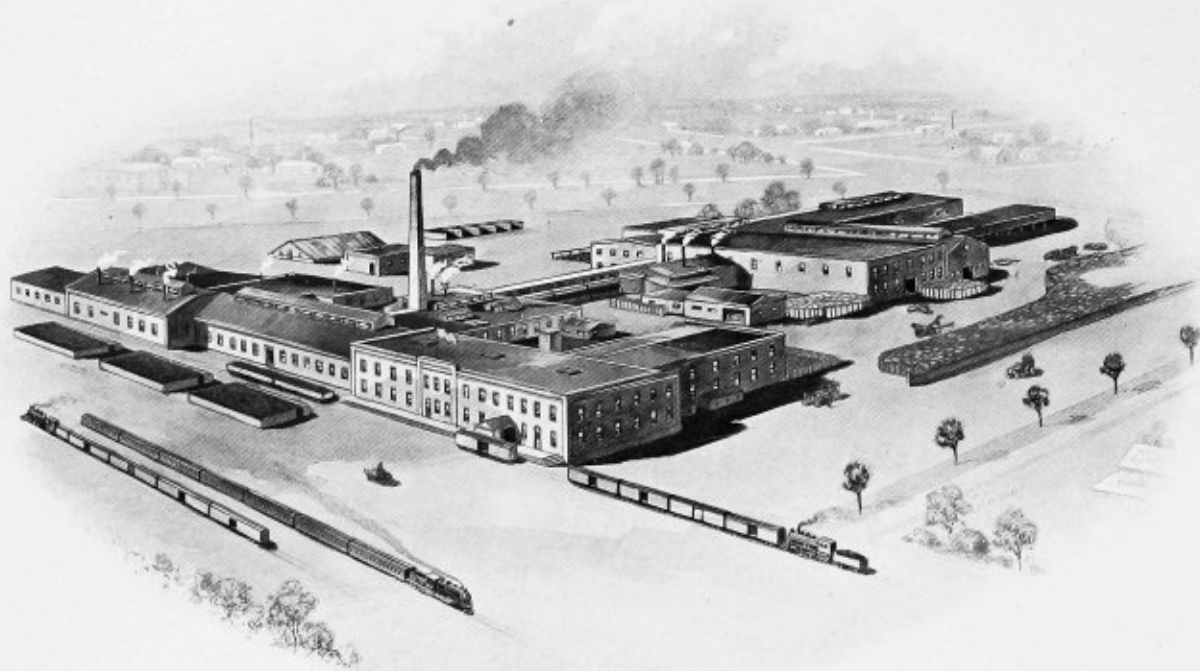

Ashtabula Works

Ashtabula, Ohio

ESTABLISHED in 1880 under the firm name of Ashtabula Tool Company. Mr. W. H. Cowdery has been the guiding spirit of the company since its organization.

The capacity of the plant has been doubled within the past three years, and the entire equipment brought to most modern standards. This factory has always made a specialty of Heavy Forks (Coke, Coal, Ballast, Vegetable Scoop Forks, etc.), and the "Diamond" brand in this line is standard wherever such goods are sold.

Mr. Robert H. Cowdery, son of W. H. Cowdery, is the present Manager.

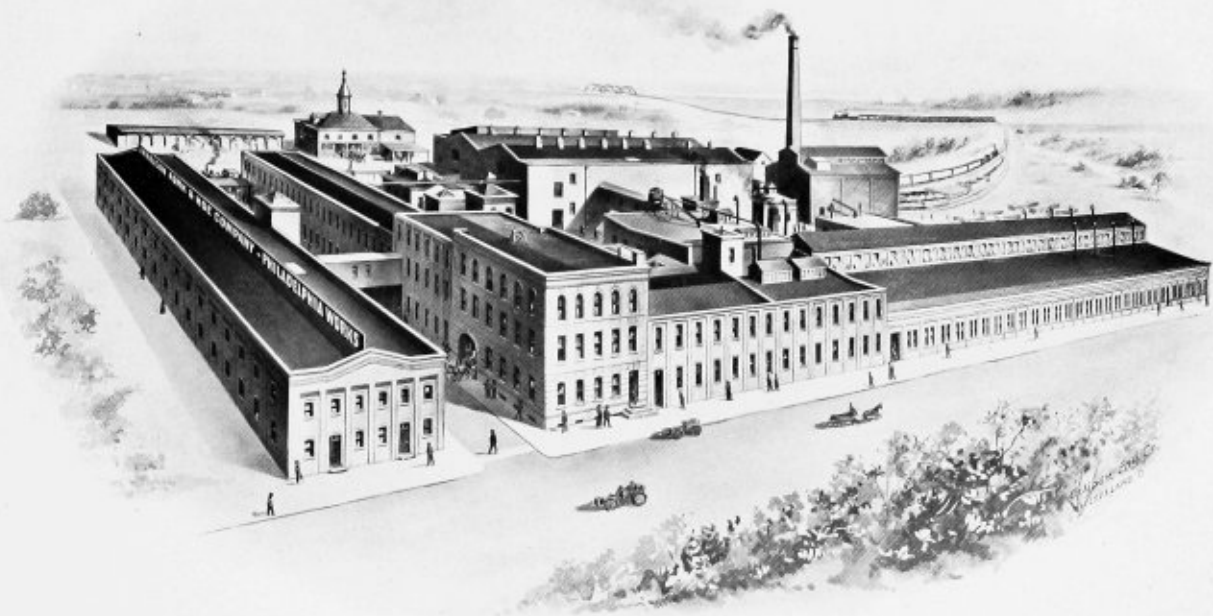

Otsego Works

North Girard, Pennsylvania

ESTABLISHED in 1842 by Mr. E. Denio. Incorporated in 1882 by his son, Mr. A. Denio, under the name of the Otsego Fork Mills Company. Mr. F. L. Andrews has been connected with the company and its active Manager for many years.

While not the largest factory in the American Fork & Hoe Company, the demand for "Otsego" Forks exceeds its capacity, but the output cannot be greatly increased in its present location. This company was the first to make Coke and Heavy Forks.

Mr. F. L. Andrews, and his son, W. F. Andrews, give the management close and careful attention.

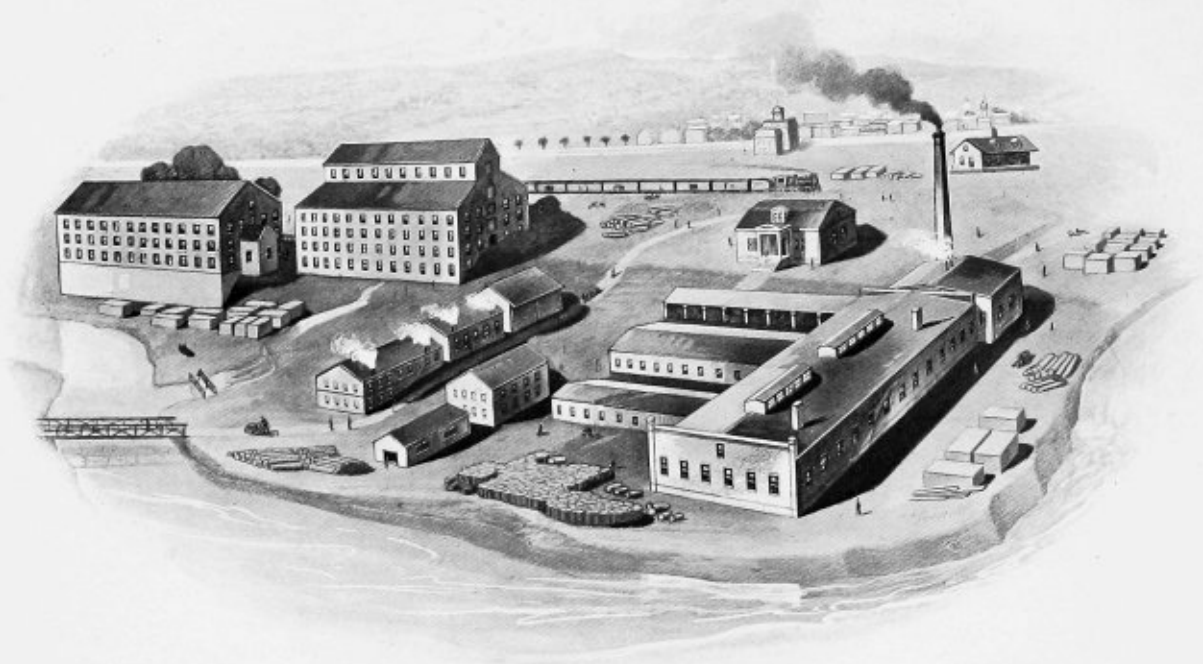

Philadelphia Works

Frankford, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

ESTABLISHED in 1850. Destroyed by fire in 1899, and immediately rebuilt on modern lines by the owners, Messrs. Sheble & Klemm.

At the organization of the American Fork & Hoe Company, the works of Smith Harper & Sons, Myers & Ervien Co., and Sheble & Klemm were united in this factory, and called the Philadelphia Works of the American Fork & Hoe Company. New machinery was installed, new buildings erected, and the plant modernized in every way. The Philadelphia Works make a general line of Steel Goods and Heavy Forks, and have a very extensive export as well as domestic trade.

Mr. J. E. Findeisen, the present Manager, has been connected with the Steel Goods business at various factories for many years.

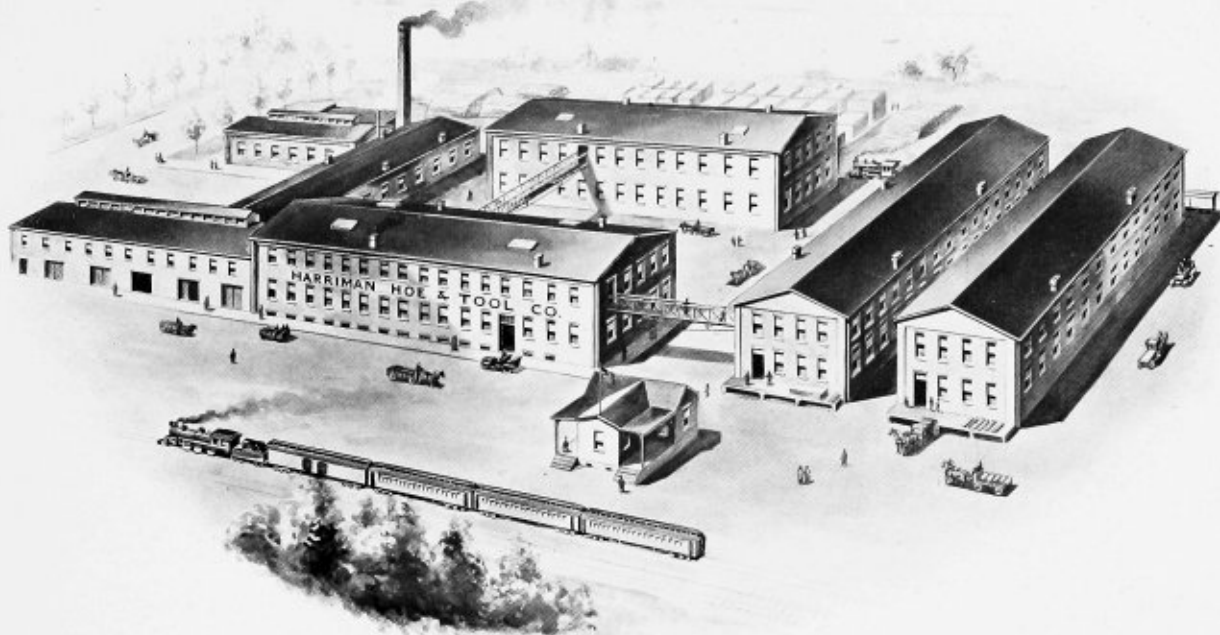

Batcheller Works

Wallingford, Vermont

THIS is one of the oldest, if not the oldest Fork factory in the United States. Established by the Batcheller family, and until the organization of the American Fork & Hoe Company, known as Batcheller & Sons Co.

"Batcheller" Forks have an enviable reputation of long standing, founded on quality.

Mr. W. C. Mason, the present Manager, has been connected with the business for many years.

Harriman Works

Harriman, Tennessee

ESTABLISHED in 1890 by Mr. Geo. B. Durell under the name of the Harriman Hoe & Tool Company.

The equipment and location of this factory is particularly adapted to supplying Hoes for the southern market. In 1907 it purchased the machinery and good-will of the Planter's Hoe Company, of Troy, N. Y., and now is the sole manufacturer of "Lane's Crescent" brand of Eye Hoes.

Mr. H. L. Durell, brother of the founder, is the present Manager, and has long been actively connected with the business.

Southern Works

Memphis, Tennessee

ON account of the excellent shipping facilities of Memphis, both rail and water, its proximity to the supply of handles, and the growing importance of the agricultural industry in the south and southwest, the American Fork & Hoe Company established this plant for the better service of trade in these sections. Its buildings, machinery and facilities are ample to supply the requirements of this field for many years to come.

The Manager, Mr. A. E. Huntley, has been connected with the Steel Goods business several years, serving his apprenticeship with the Withington & Cooley Mfg. Co.

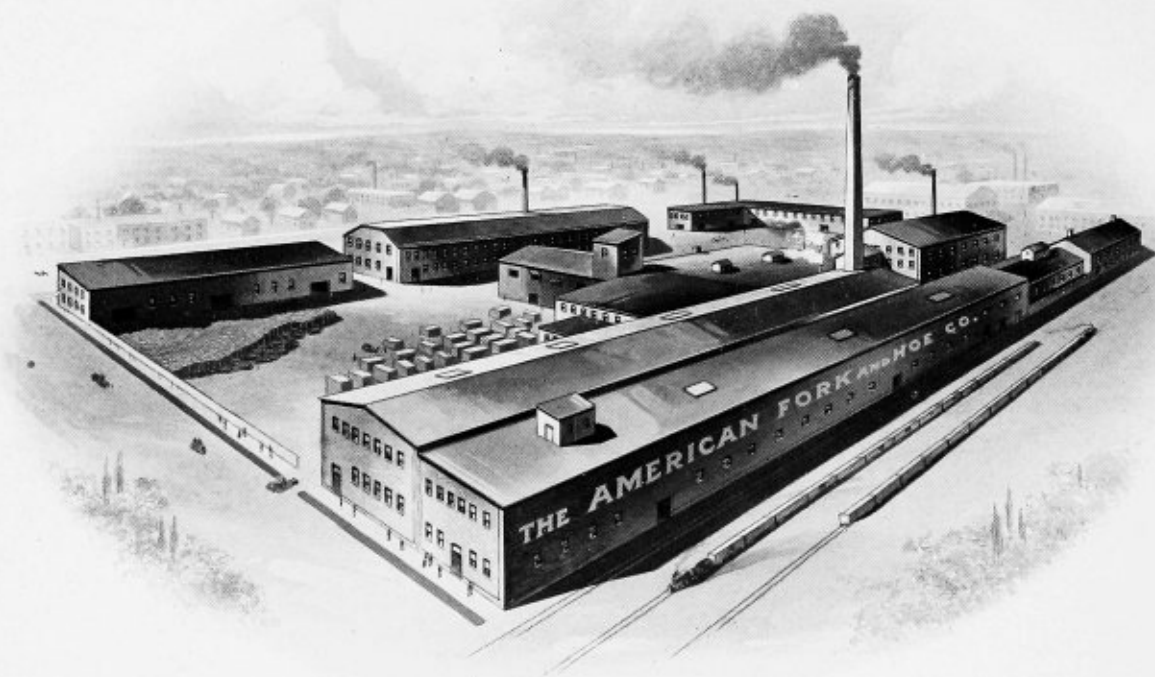

Ely Works

St. Johnsbury, Vermont

ESTABLISHED in 1848 by the late Geo. W. Ely. Incorporated in 1880 under the firm name of Ely Hoe & Fork Company.

Since its establishment, the "Moose River" or "Ely" brand of goods have enjoyed a firm hold on the New England trade, and this factory has catered especially to the exacting demands of this market.

The present Manager, Mr. Henry G. Ely, has spent his lifetime in the business.

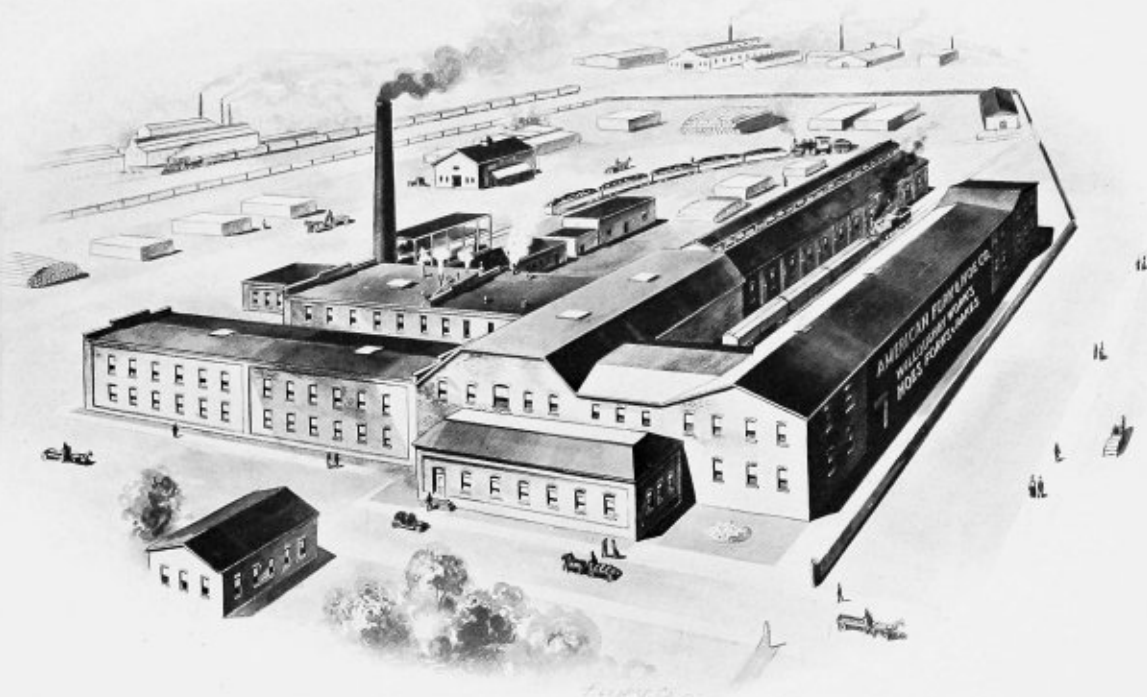

Bolles Works

Binghamton, New York

ESTABLISHED in 1840. Incorporated in 1867 as the L. Bolles Hoe & Tool Company.

This factory has always made a specialty of superior Hoes, and the Bolles Hoes are known throughout north and south. Since the organization of the American Fork & Hoe Company, the factory has been twice enlarged, and the equipment was thoroughly modernized in 1908.

Mr. E. N. Abbott, its Manager, has been long identified with the company.

Willoughby Works

Willoughby, Ohio

THIS factory is operated chiefly as an experimental plant, for the development of improved machinery, methods and designs. Its efforts have met with great success, especially in the development of the processes of electric forging and welding, as applied to the manufacture of Forks, Hoes and Rakes.

Mr. R. C. Taft is the present Manager.

"True Temper"

The Mark of Our Approval and Responsibility

THE brands that have for years stood for highest quality in forks, hoes and rakes are these: Ashtabula, Batcheller, Bolles, Ely, Fort Madison, Geneva, Harri-man, Jackson, Otsego and Philadelphia.

Each one not only represents a high quality tool, but also carries with it a reputation and a constant demand from consumers that form a very valuable asset of the dealers' business and our own.

To submerge or overshadow these trade-mark brands would be the height of business folly on our part.

To keep the trade-marks, simply for their reputation value, and to try to belittle or destroy the distinct individuality of each product, would also be a bad blunder. Their individuality is a matter of personality, not of organization or system. We could not destroy it if we would. The human or personal equation cannot be eliminated from any manufactured article that needs close and careful supervision in its making.

The object and effect of our general trade-mark, "True Temper," is neither to submerge nor destroy the old established brands. It is simply the mark by which we show our approval of the quality and our responsibility for results.

"True Temper" does not mean that all the brands are of exactly the same character and that there is no choice. It means that, when measured by the same high standard of quality, they all come up to or exceed the mark. Any goods, whether of our manufacture or of some other, that do not reach the standard, cannot be branded with the label.

"True Temper" is the guarantee of a responsible corporation for the quality of products coming from its widely separated factories. It is a responsibility we are not willing to shirk, but that we very easily could if we did not have a general mark of approval like "True Temper."

All of our Second Quality goods, while good serviceable tools, are inferior to our First Quality goods in size, weight, quality of finish of the metal parts, and in the grade and finish of the handles.

None of them are labeled with our regular factory brands, or the names of our works; consequently, we cannot entertain claims for broken or defective tools of this grade.

SECOND QUALITY

(Regular Steel Goods)

Tied regularly for domestic trade in bundles of one dozen each. Tines Not Burlapped

All of our Second Quality goods, while good serviceable tools, are inferior to our First Quality goods in size, weight, quality of finish of the metal parts, and in the grade and finish of the handles.

None of them are labeled with our regular factory brands, or the names of our works; consequently, we cannot entertain claims for broken or defective tools of this grade.

All of our Second Quality goods, while good, serviceable tools, are inferior to our First Quality goods in weight, quality of finish of the metal parts, and in the grade and finish of the Handles.

None of them are labeled with our regular factory brands, or the names of our works; consequently, we cannot entertain claims for broken or defective tools of this grade.

These Hoes are made only in Socket pattern, and have XXX Double Spring Handles. The blades are made of two kinds of steel, rolled very thin, one being of mild steel, the other of superior edge steel, thus always insuring a sharp cutting edge. These are the very finest Hoes that we can make and they will please the most fastidious. They are also the most economical Hoes to buy for day laborers, because of the greater quantity of work that a sharp Hoe will enable them to perform.

Lane & Gale "Crescent" Eye Hoes

THE American Fork & Hoe Company has recently purchased the equipment, etc., of the Planters Hoe Company of Troy, N. Y., makers of the famous Lane & Gale "Crescent" Eye Hoes, and are now manufacturing these tools at the Harriman Works, Harriman, Tenn.

Lane's "Crescent" Hoes have been on the market so many years, and their superior workmanship is so widely known, that it is not necessary to dwell at length upon the merits of the product. We shall continue the high standard of these goods, and jealously guard their well-earned reputation.

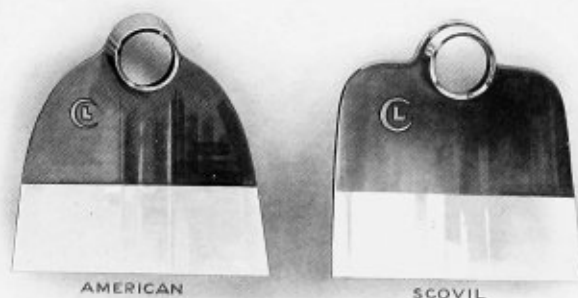

All of our Eye Hoes, both "Lane" and "Harriman," are forged and drawn from one solid piece of steel, and are the only Eye Hoes on the American market which are made absolutely without welding of parts.

Malleable Iron Garden Rakes

(Special Goods)

Tied regularly for domestic trade in bundles of one dozen each. Heads Not Burlapped

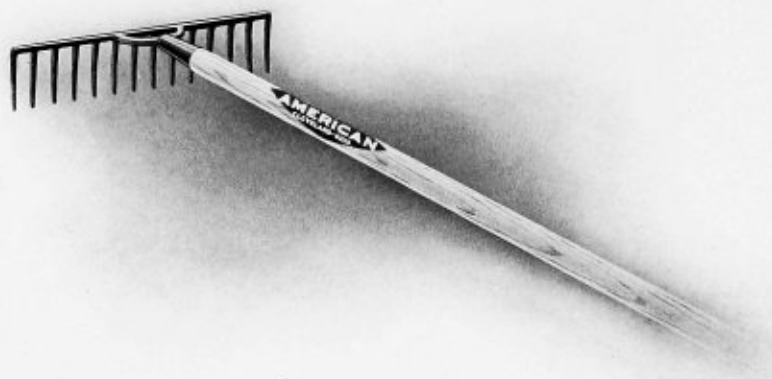

Malleable Iron Rakes are the cheapest known goods of their kind. They are made cheaply and sell cheaply. They are not in any way guaranteed as to quality, although our Malleable Rakes are equal to any other Malleable Rakes on the market, and superior to some.

Grain Cradles

(Miscellaneous Goods)

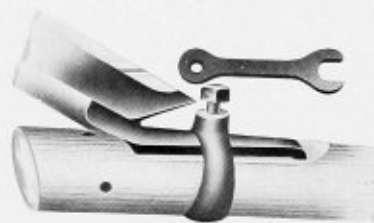

"PRIZE" CRADLE FASTENINGS

With the "Prize" Patent Cradle Fastenings and Trimmings, the body and snath are quickly and easily attached without the use of pins, nails, screws or tools.

On the end of the finger post is a swivel socket with an eye. Slip the eye over the stem on the end of the snath plate, turn the body up into position, and it is ready to fasten the braces.

The swivel socket allows the points of the fingers to be hung in or out to fit any shaped scythe, and the eye hinging on the stem permits the cradle body to be placed at any angle with the snath, to or from the operator.

No other cradle has both of these features.

SET SCREW RING FASTENINGS

Applied to all of our Grain Cradles, except the "Prize."

The case-hardened set screw holds the scythe firmer than a wedge, saves annoyance, is simple and effective.
